

Texans for Individual Rights (TXIR) Launches #StopTLR

New project from Conservative organization exposes the liberal, self-interested agenda of Texas' most powerful political group

Houston, TX- Texans for Individual Rights (TXIR) today announced the launch of #StopTLR, a new multimedia project exposing the liberal activities of Texans for Lawsuit Reform (TLR). #StopTLR can be found online at <http://www.StopTLR.com>, on Facebook at facebook.com/StopTLR, and on Twitter at twitter.com/StopTLR and #StopTLR.

“For years, Texans for Lawsuit Reform has portrayed itself as a conservative organization, when in fact they are the biggest enemy of the conservative cause in Texas” stated Mark McCaig, President of TXIR and a longtime conservative activist and former member of the State Republican Executive Committee.

McCaig continued “As an active grassroots conservative, I hear frustrations every day about how wealthy special interests have too much influence at the Texas Capitol and have actively worked against issues important to conservative activists. Today, with #StopTLR, we put a name and a face on these “special interests” and give Texas conservatives the information and tools necessary to stop TLR and their self-interested agenda.”

#StopTLR will inform Texas conservatives about important issues including:

- The role TLR’s biggest donors played in the death of legislation combating illegal immigration and securing the Texas border
- How TLR’s backers have benefitted from Solyndra-style crony capitalism and taxpayer funded handouts
- TLR’s multi-million dollar support of liberal, pro-abortion Democrats, including the nephew of TLR’s President

Founded in 2007, Texans for Individual Rights is a conservative public policy organization dedicated to promoting the principles of limited government and personal accountability. TXIR’s key issues include protecting the integrity of the civil justice system, private property rights, and opposing corporate welfare. TXIR has long been critical of TLR’s special interest agenda, and detailed TLR’s history of anti-conservative legislative advocacy in its 2007 report “The Real TLR”, available online at www.TheRealTLR.com.
